Be Prepared to Interview — Make It Your New Year Resolution

by Becky Dean

It's the New Year and maybe you have already made all your traditional resolutions: loose weight, exercise, save more money. But there is still time to add to the list, especially if you are hoping to land a new flight deck position in 2007—be prepared to interview.

My girlfriend called me the other day, excited to tell me that her fiancée had just received an interview invitation from a small regional airline. "It all happened so fast. We never thought John would even get the interview!" Betty exclaimed. And I must admit, I was skeptical, but at the same time, not all to surprised to hear about their good news. John has a commercial pilot certificate with single engine, multieengine, and instrument ratings, 450 hours of total flight time of which 50 are multiengine. When a friend of his, who works for the regional carrier, encouraged him to submit a résumé and offered to personally recommend him, John went to work. With no time to waste, he had a résumé written, produced, and mailed within the week. Two weeks later, he got the interview. Now what?

John was panicking. He really wasn't ready for the interview. With only three weeks before the big day, John was faced with

Delta is Hiring Up To 200 First Officers

Delta Air Lines recalled the last 158 furloughed pilots and is now actively recruiting first officers for their mainline operations. Minimums for interested applicants are as follows: 1,200 total time, 1,000 fixed-wing turboprop or turbofan, ATP written, Class I medical, four-year degree, and at least 21 years of age. Delta said they may hire up to 200 new pilots in 2007. Qualified applicants can apply online at www.delta.com.

AirTran Makes $290M Bid for Midwest

AirTran Airways on December 13 made an offer to purchase Midwest Airlines for $290 million in cash and stock options. "This is a very strong strategic combination that will create a national, low-cost, high-quality airline," said AirTran CEO Joe Leonard. Midwest has hired investment banking firms and outside consultants to help evaluate the merger proposal.

US Airways Increases DAL Bid

On January 10 US Airways raised its offer to purchase Delta Air Lines to $10.2 billion, an increase of $1.6 billion from its original offer of $8.6 billion. The increased bid includes 89.5 million shares of US Airways stock and $5 billion in cash.

Delta said it would review the offer and added that the "revised proposal does not address significant concerns that have been raised about the initial US Airways proposal." Based on Delta's valuation method, US Airways estimated that the increased bid could be worth between $12.7 billion and $15.4 billion.

UAL and CAL May Join Forces

Two of the nation's largest airlines, United Airlines and Continental Airlines, are in the very early stages of merger talks. United CEO Glenn Tilton is for airline consolidation and would negotiate a deal if it were advantageous to United and its shareholders.

World Traffic Increased 5% in 2006

Preliminary traffic figures for 2006, released by the International Civil Aviation Organization, reflected a five-percent increase in worldwide traffic. The total number of scheduled freight traffic grew by 3% over 2005; domestic traffic increased 5%; and international flights rose 3%.

ASA Announces Lower Pilot Minimums

Atlantic Southeast Airlines (ASA) announced new minimums for qualified pilots. Current first officers interested in applying must have: 800 TT, 50 ME, COMM/INST/ME/RTOP, and a valid passport. Pilots with an Advanced Jet Training (AJT) certificate must have: 500 TT, 50 ME, COMM/INST/ME/RTOP, and a valid passport. An AJT certificate includes: Level C/D jet sim experience, 20 hours in a level 5/6 jet FTD, FMS and CRM training, glass cockpit experience, and completion of Accelerated Jet Ground School.

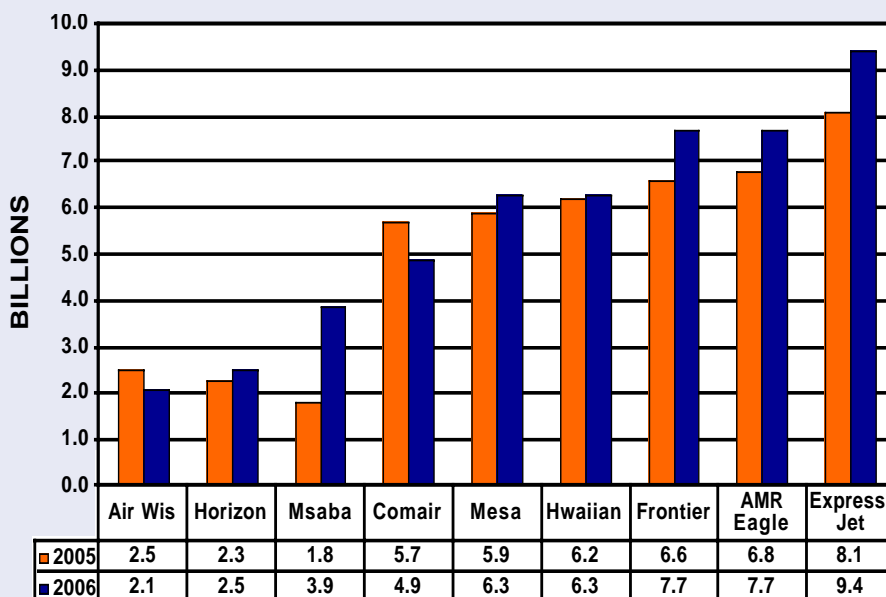

The following is a list of colleges, universities, and pilot training programs that offer the AJT certificate program: Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Purdue, Auburn, UND, WMU, ATP (Jacksonville, FL), Delta Connection Academy (Sanford, FL), Falcon Aviation Academy (Peachtree City, GA), Commercial Airline Pilot Training (Flagler Beach, FL), and Georgia Aviation Technical College (Eastman, GA).

Interested applicants can submit their résumé by mail, e-mail to pilotselection@flyasa.com asa.pilotselection@flyasa.com, or fax to at (404) 763-8397. Pilots can also visit their Web site at www.flyasa.com for further information.

Fourth Quarter Major Airline Results

Continental Airline (CAL) announced they will post a modest fourth quarter loss despite a better than expected December revenue performance. CAL is still forecasting a full-year profit for 2006. According to JP Morgan analyst Jamie Brown Alaska, American, and United may also post narrow losses. US Airways is expected to post a profit for the last quarter of 2006.

Eclipse Delivers First VLJ

Eclipse Aviation delivered its first Eclipse 500 Very Light Jet (VLJ), to co-owners David Crowe and Jet Alliance. VLJ's seat between four and six passengers, weigh less than 10,000 pounds, and can utilize the 5,000 satellite airports located around the country. Eclipse currently has secured orders for 2,500 aircraft.

John Prater Takes Over as ALPA President

Continental Airline pilot John Prater took over as president of the Air Line Pilots Association on January 1, 2007. Prater is taking a hard-line stance and has stressed the need for more collaborative action from all airlines and has pledged to "make sure the union grabs hold of any advantages placed before us." Prater beat out incumbent Duane Woerth in an election last October.

Denied Startup Status

The Department of Transportation (DOT) denied Virgin America's startup application on December 27, 2006 saying that the low-cost carrier failed to meet the U.S. citizenship requirements. According to federal law foreign ownership in any U.S. airline is limited to 25 percent. The DOT said that "Virgin America's close relationship with the U.K.-based Virgin Group indicates that the carrier is not under the actual control of U.S. citizens." Virgin, which currently has 169 employees, nine A320s and A319, and 42 pilots, said it would appeal the decision by January 10 but did not say how it would attempt to reverse the DOT's decision.

completing his ATP written, passing a Class I physical, and getting copies of his FAA, driver's, and educational records over the holidays—all requirements for the interview. On top of that, he wanted to talk to an interview coach and perhaps squeeze in some flying time, either actual or in the simulator.

With a regular non-flying, full-time job, this was going to be hard to accomplish. Betty called to ask me, "What should we do?"

Good question. Betty was wondering if John should postpone the interview until he was ready. John, living under the notion that you have to take the interview when it comes, was not very receptive to this idea. I thought it was a good plan. I am not suggesting that John delay the interview for another three weeks, but one extra week may enable him to prepare and to feel comfortable going into the interview.

In my Interview Survival workshops held in conjunction with the AIR, Inc. Airline Pilot Career Day Seminar and Job Fair, I talk a lot about being prepared for the interview. This preparation should start early, since a no-notice or short-notice interview could leave you in a bind. Is it okay to accept a short-notice interview and be unprepared? No. Will the recruiters understand and sympathize? No. Can you call and ask for another interview date if there is no way you can be prepared in time? Certainly! Ideally, you should take the first interview date that is offered and live with it. But in certain situations, and especially with your first interview, you have to judge whether or not you have enough time before your interview to complete certain tasks. Recruiters assume that this work is already done, so they expect you to show up ready to go. Additionally, being prepared will put you at ease and give you more control over the process—being relaxed and in control is a good thing.

So what should John do? For now, his plan is to use his vacation accrual and focus all of his effort toward getting ready for the interview. Even then, his plan may be a little ambitious. One more week could relieve some of the pressure. I have encouraged him to make the call and ask for some more time. If the airline can't accommodate John, he can always keep the original appointment. Will this act leave a negative impression with the recruiters? Not necessarily. How you handle the situation over the phone is important. Be professional and courteous. Explain that you are having trouble arranging your schedule to meet the deadline and ask if they would be able to reschedule the interview. If they can, they will. If they can't, then you will have to do your best with the time you have. Keep in mind however, that it is best to ask for as much time as possible when you get the initial call.

Arriving to your interview unprepared and lacking requested paperwork will certainly leave a negative impression. And we all know what that means. Ultimately, coming to the interview prepared is what is expected of you. With interview offers being made at lightening speed, make a plan now to accommodate this requirement.

If you are applying for pilot position you must anticipate that you will get an interview. So don't wait until you get the interview to start your preparation. Being prepared before the interview will allow you to accept the earliest possible interview date without delay, and with peace of mind. You'll only have yourself to blame if you are unprepared. Get prepared, stay prepared. Make it your New Year Resolution and you won't regret it! ✈

Career Seminar Package

Career Day Seminar Sat. 8:00AM—2:00PM

Ensure your job search achieves maximum success in minimum time! Be the best prepared candidate. Our all-day seminar will educate, motivate, and give you the edge over your competition. Come to the seminar and spend the day with experts who will deliver the most current insights on a successful career plan for you.

Airline Forum Sat. 2:00PM—4:00PM

Learn directly from the airline recruiters about their hiring and fleet plans, and general subjects of interest to everyone, thereby allowing more time for individualized questions to be asked in the Job Fair.

Job Fair Sat. 4:00PM—8:00PM

Meet face-to-face with key recruiters, personally deliver your résumé, ask questions, and learn more about the companies you are pursuing at the Job Fair after the seminar. Our counselors and staff will be on hand to answer your questions about career development and your job search plan. Aviation training vendors will be present to provide the latest information on type ratings, ATPs, and much more—Don't miss it!

What Pilots Are Saying...

5 Career Workshops • Friday and Sunday

CREW RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

Kit Darby Friday 2-5PM
Introduction/Refresher Course

Get an overview of all CRM concepts including questions used in pilot selection. Taught by an experienced airline CRM instructor who will challenge and entertain you while you learn how to ace your airline interview. Plus decision making and stress management.

RÉSUMÉS/APPLICATIONS

Becky Dean Friday 6-9PM

Get the maximum score from your résumés and cover letters. Ensure your résumé has the form, content, and presentation necessary to get the maximum score. Find out how to handle problems on your application.

RÉSUMÉ CRITIQUES

We evaluate your résumé against the current airline scoring system for proper content, format, paper, and print quality to improve the effectiveness of your résumé. Critiques regularly $35; at seminar only $20.

INTERVIEW SURVIVAL

B. Dean, K. Darby, J. Carman Sunday 7:30-10:30AM

Watch mock interviews and let our panel coach you to a better score by giving high-scoring answers to the toughest questions. We'll cover how to discuss your problems and weaknesses and still get the job, plus reveal the qualities or themes the airlines look for in your answers.

TESTING/SIMULATOR CHECK

Kit Darby Sunday 11:15AM-2:15PM

Receive a pre-employment sim briefing complete with pitch attitudes and power settings. Improve your score and reduce preparation cost of your sim check. Plus, learn which airlines use which simulators, airports, and maneuvers. Take sample tests, learn which references you should study, and the best resources to use. Learn which tests are given at each airline currently interviewing and how to handle problems on your application.

MILITARY TO AIRLINE TRANSITION

Jim Carman Sunday 2:30-5:30 PM

Compare the airline pilot life to your military career. This workshop covers pay, benefits, insurance, pass privileges, time off and flexibility, the ins and outs of initial—upgrade—and recurrent training, bidding, reserve status, holding the line, commuting, the jump seat, health care, state income tax issues, military reserve considerations, and more.

✂ Detach and return to AIR, Inc. in separate envelope, fax to 800 AIR-FAXS or call 800 JET-JOBS to reserve your spot today!
